

enjoy.ing is a Swiss based engineering company, with headquarters in Zurich, gathering internationally experienced teams of engineers in Belgrade and Niš.

We enjoy software engineering! Do you?

If you are looking for creative and challenging international projects, excellent working conditions, training and development opportunities, pure professionalism with a handful of positive spirit and...

You are a team player with open and friendly personality and would like to work as:

Test Automation Engineer

You will:

- Be part of our agile distributed team engaged in the development of a global platform for content and eCommerce using the latest enterprise technologies and innovative micro-services architecture, to support the worldwide provision of modern education
- Contribute with your knowledge and skills to the implementation of a comprehensive test automation suite for a complex technology stack
- Have to understand overall technical architecture, business concepts and how software features are implemented
- Drive test automation frameworks, quality assurance processes and best practices

You have:

- At least 2 years of test automation experience
- Very good understanding of development lifecycle, testing practices and quality assurance processes
- Experience with test planning & management and test case design
- Experience setting up automated functional testing tools like Selenium, TestNG, Cucumber
- Experience with automated API testing tools like RestAssured/Runscope
- Working experience with Jira
- Basic development skills in Java, JavaScript, CSS, shell scripting. Capable of understanding source code
- Ability to interpret and communicate information to the client
- Open and friendly personality
- Very good verbal and written communication skills in English
- Bachelor or higher degree in computer science (or equivalent)

Our offer:

- A chance to be part of casual but highly professional international environment
- Opportunity to learn from experienced colleagues, including internal knowledge sharing sessions
- Competitive compensation depending on experience and skills
- Private pension and medical insurance
- Professional and soft skills trainings and education
- Awesome referral fees
- Sports, team buildings, conferences and events
- Modern and cozy offices in New Belgrade and Niš, cakes and fresh fruits...
- Possibility to travel abroad
- Work – life balanced schedule
- Respect and support to your professional, family and personal goals

Working location: Niš

Sounds interesting? Then you should join enjoy.ing!

You can apply here.

